Are you interested in expanding your professional network or practicing your elevator pitch? Lunchclub uses AI technology to match you with real people for informational interviews. Follow these steps to get started:

1. Go to their website and click “Sign up with Google.”
2. Enter basic info about yourself (name, city, objectives, interests).
3. Type a short introduction and pick conversation starters that will be used when the AI introduces you to someone virtually.
4. Connect your Google account so the AI can check your availability and schedule meetings.
5. Answer questions that help the AI determine who to match you with.
6. Receive email notifications if you received a chat or video call setup.
7. Network at your pace!
